

Look into my Future

There are countless talk shows airing on TV daily and magazines with articles being put out but, only a few are expressing the issue of AIDS and ways to prevent it. I'm constantly hearing about my people especially my African American women dying and suffering all because the world isn't putting forth a forceful effort to better inform its people about this deadly disease.

My cultural community is seriously lacking the source of information needed to help them from catching HIV/AIDS. Now it's not just the fact that they are poorly informed but, as well as becoming very careless and irresponsible. They should be more aware of their choices for they affect not only them but, the people around them as well.

I envision in the next fifteen years that my community will be living a more healthy and prosperous life. You will see more educational videos and classes that will start at a young age to engage the mind early on. I envision that there will be a cure discovered to help lessen the death rate caused by this disease. The information should not only be received in classes but, in your home as well.

Now after reading this all I have is one question for you...

“What will you do to prevent getting AIDS?”
